WEEKLY REPUBLICAN—1867.
DAILY PUBLIC LEDGER—1898.

MODERN LOVE.
There was a young man in Schoharie,
Who madly loved Kitty and Carrie;
But each was so rich,
That he couldn't tell which
Of the two girls he wanted to marry.

A good smoke—the Trinket.

S. F. Faul has been appointed Road Overseer in Germantown District No. 5, vice Ben Faul resigned.

Mr. John M. Shepard has recovered from his recent illness and is able to be at his place of business.

Mr. John P. Wallace shipped his household goods to Chicago yesterday. He and his family will leave for the Windy City Sunday.

James Simpson, colored, for being drunk and trying to take the town, contributed $15.50 to the school fund in the Police Court yesterday.

Mr. C. A. Hainline, who has been in Cincinnati for a week past, owing to the swollen condition of her face, was compelled to return to this city. She is now confined to her room at White Hall.

If you have a Diamond want I will guarantee to save you money. See my stock before buying a Diamond or Watch. We are leaders in everything in our line.

P. J. MURPHY, the Jeweler.

EXECUTOR'S SALE!

I will on Saturday, February 3d, 1906, begin a closing-out sale of the stock of about $15,000 worth of Drygoods, Notions, Underwear, etc., belonging to the estate of the late Thomas Y. Nesbitt, at the store, Northeast corner Second and Sutton streets, Maysville, Ky., where said Thomas Y. Nesbitt conducted his business under the name of Nesbitt & Co. The store will be closed on next Friday, February 2d, to mark down goods. This stock of goods must now be sold in order to enable me to make settlement of his estate.

J. M. NESBITT,
Executor T. Y. Nesbitt.

Smoke Trinket Cigar.

The Owl will hold forth tonight with dance at the Washington Dance Hall.

Rev. Bramel preaches next Sunday, morning and night at the Christian Church.

Mr. William Gatrell, foreman of the C. and O. yard crew, who was knocked off a car Sunday and sustained a fracture of the skull, is getting along nicely considering his serious injury.

Yesterday Walter Pence, a stepson of Mr. T. K. Proctor, together with several companions of his own age, were playing tads near their home in the East End, and because he objected to Gaines Fletcher, colored, butting into the game, the latter cut with his knife and made vicious swipes at the anatomy of young Pence, cutting a long slit in his coat. A warrant was issued for Fletcher and he will be tried in the Police Court today.

GOT HIS DOSE

Fair Warning to Other Hoodlums Who Visit the Opera-House

Nathaniel Green, colored, who was arrested for disturbing the audience at the Opera-house Tuesday evening by his boisterous conduct, was fined and costed $25.50 in Judge Whitaker's Court yesterday, the lowest penalty that could be imposed.

May it serve as a warning to others who are in the habit of annoying and spoiling the pleasure of those who attend a performance at the Opera-house.

The Rev. Sam P. Jones is scheduled to begin a revival meeting in Lexington in March.

CHEERING WORDS

The Ledger Appreciates Kindly Expressions From Its Readers

Above all other things THE LEDGER appreciates voluntary kindly expressions on the part of its readers.

The following extract is taken from a personal letter to one of Maysville's most prominent women, from a friend to whom she sends the paper at a distant Ohio city—

"I read THE LEDGER, and each one gives items of interest. I think it as good a paper as comes here. It gives a resume of all the passing events, and the editorial remarks are very clever. The 'Sons of Rest' on the Esplanade are a never-ending source of amusing comment."

The Trinket is fine. Smoke it.

Taxable property for 1906 will amount to $5,500,000 in Fleming county, the highest figure yet reached.

The Court of Appeals Tuesday, Judge Payne writing, affirmed the judgment of the Mason Circuit Court in a case of the Commonwealth against the Central Hotel Company. The suit was by Auditor's Agent O'Donnell for the recovery of $500 state license for selling liquor under Section 4,224, Kentucky Statutes. The Mason Circuit Court held for the appellees.

It's White Damask Today

Our Linen Department is on dress parade and it's as proud as a peacock over the sumptuous Linens on display. Not make-believe linen, but genuine, made of properly cultivated and seasoned flax. No cotton cunningly twisted in the thread—it's pure linen through and through. We emphasize this on account of small prices and the inclination of some dealers to proclaim "All linen" when they ought to say "part cotton."

50c Yard Bleached and unbleached Irish linen 68 in. wide. Large range of patterns.

75c Yard Good enough for any occasion, sturdy enough for everyday wear.

89c Yard Closely woven and heavy. An excellent Irish weave. Full 72 in. wide.

$1 Yard Satin finish, grass bleached. No chemical bleaching ever weakened this sturdy linen.

$1.25 Yard The pattern stands out boldly in high luster on a dull finished background. Very effective.

$1.50 Yard Exquisite patterns in satisfying variety. 72 in. wide.

$1.75 Yard Smooth as satin. Laundered with a gloss that throws out the pattern in strong relief.

$2 Yard For "dress up" occasions. Handsome enough to give a banquet air to a dinner of herbs.

$2.50 Yard Superb damasks that measure full 2½ yards wide, in exquisite floral and geometrical patterns.

From here the price ascension gradually reaches $3½, which is our quality limit.

It's powerful good for the poor that the winter is so nearly over before Mr. MITCHELL orders his miners to strike.

THOSE who see fit to abuse the Rev. Dr. E. L. POWELL for his stand in pardoning Kentucky's political prisoners and refugees, only advertise their own vindictive spirit.

THERE are only 90 men in Jail at Chicago charged with murder. No wonder the Anti-Crime League is unanimous for a $10,000 saloon license, to help pay Court expenses and reduce the number of dens.

THE statement of the Hon. CHARLES A. BOOKWALTER, ex-Mayor of Indianapolis, throws no new light on TOM CAMPBELL. Indeed, there was no depth to which that late unlamented scoundrel would not descend.

A. F. NORTON, the Kokomo (Ind.) merchant who tried to conduct several stores in that vicinity "as CHRIST would," is now trying to gain a settlement with his creditors. He has only $10,000 with which to pay $27,000; but if he does "as CHRIST would," he will settle at 100 cents on the dollar.

THE Washington correspondent of The Times-Star says those who have been watching the tactics of Senator TILLMAN are wondering what his animosity for the President will lead him to do next. Mr. TILLMAN has never forgiven President ROOSEVELT for notifying him on a certain occasion some two years ago that an invitation to attend a dinner at the White House had been withdrawn. A nephew of Senator TILLMAN, then Lieutenant-Governor of South Carolina, who subsequently became notorious by the murder of a distinguished Editor of Columbia, had been exceptionally offensive in his comments about President ROOSEVELT, and Mr. ROOSEVELT had shown his resentment by excluding Senator TILLMAN from his table. Undoubtedly, had TILLMAN adopted the stage he could have made a name for himself as an actor. Recently he has entrenched his position as the prize crying member of the Senate. He shed a flood of tears during his speech in the Senate over the expulsion of Mrs. MORRIS from the White House. In referring to womanhood and in paying his tribute to a woman as a mother, wife, sister and daughter, Mr. TILLMAN's feelings overcame him and he sobbed aloud and for a time was unable to proceed with his speech. For a second time, when speaking of his own mother, tears welled to his eyes again and his voice was choked with sobs. It is remembered that Mr. TILLMAN was affected to tears once before. It was during a speech against the Negro in the South, when he branched off and told the story of his old Negro "mammy nurse," who had nursed him as fondly as a mother, and the recollections of the old woman, black though she had been, caused tears to come to his eyes. But he did not lose himself on that occasion as completely as he did during the Morris debate.

THE REV. DR. E. L. POWELL

Makes Strong Appeal to the Governor For Pardoning Political Prisoners Now Held in Kentucky.

Democrat and Republican would clasp hands as they should say: "Henceforth we are antagonists not over a dead issue, or rather a dead issue that is forever resurrected, henceforth we are honorable antagonists over modern questions that may come up; we fight as brothers, we stand against each other as one party man against another party man. The day of political asperity has passed for us. The old miserable issues are done with. Let us love one another." I wonder if such a thing would be possible? I was gratified to find that a number of papers in the state—I don't know how they got hold of it—referred to this sermon last Sunday night in most favorable terms. Others were bitter in their denunciation.

"So be it. Let justice confine herself to the realm of justice; let the Judge do his duty, but the Governor is invested with that fine thing called Executive Clemency which is outside the realm of law, and there are high occasions when it can be exercised, even towards a criminal, for the sake of the larger good—for the common weal of the land that we love. Would it not mean more to Kentucky for these criminals, if they are criminals, to be pardoned, than to have each one of them placed in the penitentiary evermore, having brought before us an issue that should generate bitterness, and should make impossible fraternity as between political antagonists?

"I dare not affirm that justice should not be meted out to the guilty, but these men, some of whom have been in prison for four or five years, and some of whom are wanderers on the face of the earth, are not known, beyond the shadow of a doubt, to be criminals. If guilty, depend upon it, that in their far country they have known the loneliness and the wretchedness and the shame and the self-loathing of the criminal. If not guilty, it has all been a huge miscarriage of justice. But would it not be a splendid thing, would it not mean the introduction of a new spirit into a new Kentucky, if the Governor of the state, on the occasion of this grand reunion of former Kentuckians, should proclaim a political amnesty?

"The bands would play then, 'My Old Kentucky Home,' and the tears would flow.

"I would like to have this home-coming represent somewhat even in civil affairs the spirit of the old prodigal story. I would like to have the bells ringing 'Coming home,' to some of these wanderers. I would not minimize their crime by killing the fatted calf or by putting the ring on their fingers or the shoes on their feet; but as a civil officer I would say to them, Take the back seat and be satisfied to occupy it, but none the less we grant you the privileges of the family board. There are some things that come to a man as a sort of inspiration. I do not know how this thought came to me save as an inspiration, but I verily believe that it would be the best thing that the Democratic Governor could do, the best in the interests of justice, the best for the sake of the Commonwealth, and I believe that it would bring in a new day for this old Kentucky of ours upon which the sun shines bright, and make her sons and daughters come more and more to love the old home and to rejoice in all her hallowed associations and her splendid and heroic memories."

Mrs. Julius Paulson of Dewitt, Ia., threw herself and her three children off a bridge into a creek. Two children and the mother were drowned.

ISLE OF SPICE.

Editor Ledger: The Bulletin's critic, for fear of being shocked, should hereafter confine himself only to kindergarten shows. He is too goody-good for performances such as that we so thoroughly enjoyed Tuesday night. The three "alleged" comedians he deprecates are the best seen here for years—as evidenced by the numerous recalls they were favored with by almost the entire audience, which composed the largest and most critical the house contained this season, and almost without a dissenting voice pronounced the show the most enjoyable Maysville has been treated to for years; in fact, many say the best ever seen here.

CONFIRMED PROOF.

Residents of Maysville Cannot Doubt What Has Been Twice Proved.

In gratitude for complete relief from aches and pains of bad backs—from distressing kidney ills—thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of Maysville, who so testified years ago, now say their cures were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Maysville kidney sufferers.

A. W. McClanahan, of A. W. & B. P. McClanahan, grocers, at 121 Second street, Maysville, Ky., says:

"I can endorse Doan's Kidney Pills more heartily today than I did five years ago when I told the Maysville people that this medicine had cured me of severe kidney trouble and backache that had bothered me more or less for twenty years and seemed to be growing worse and worse all the time. I repeat that I can more confidently recommend Doan's Kidney Pills today than I did in that testimonial because my cure has been permanent and I have had no kidney trouble for nearly five years. As proof that I am firm believer in Doan's Kidney Pills I will be only too pleased to reiterate the above to anyone who may inquire. I got the remedy at J. Jas. Wood & Son's Drugstore."
